By completing this course and gaining the associated certifications you are demonstrating your expertise in analyzing data with both Power BI and Excel.Potential students that would be interested in this course are:SQL Server Report creators who are interested in alternate methods of presenting data Beginning and experienced programmers who have at least 3 months of programming experience and have basic Windows skills. IT professionals that are responsible for analyzing data with Excel After completing this course, students are able to: 03-02-2020 11:58 AM vinS.Much of the future growth in BI tools will come from data-literate professionals with non-technical education and work experience. The MCSA-BI certification is appealing to users in this demographic. It's a robust, challenging credential that is attainable for people who haven't spent their careers in IT. It's unfortunate that the MCSA-BI is ending. There are a number of BI credentials out there, but none of them have the credibility of a Microsoft certification. This certification demonstrates your expertise in analyzing data with both Power BI and Excel. What is involved Earning an MCSA: BI Reporting demonstrates knowledge relevant to data analysis, data visualisation, modelling, dashboards, and direct connectivity to data sources in Excel and Power BI. It is the first step on your path to becoming a Data Management and Analytics Microsoft Certified Solutions Expert (MCSE). Step 1 - Sit the following course and pass the associated exam: Exam 70-778 Analyzing and Visualizing Data with Power BI Why BI? Business Intelligence is a trend almost every company is considering, or already incursionating in, specially since most of them have tons of data already stored, or just being generated on daily basis, and in many cases they are not even taking any advantage from it. BI as a technology-driven process uses different solutions to gather your data, transform it and turn into actionable information, which in simple words means accurate business decisions that will have a direct impact in the success of your organization. Microsoft offers solutions that will supply any particular need a BI implementation would require, from the collection of the data, the storage and transformation, and even the possibility to Intelligence to the data for more ambitious scenarios like predictive analytics. But the question here is how we can visualize that data efficiently? We have always had reporting tools, the problem is those reports are completely static, only images, besides they are many for specific business scenarios and sometimes they do not even give us the details we need, and for making changes organizations used to have a exhausting process that involves a ticket creation, and a lot of patience to get the information you needed, best case scenario the data is still useful by the moment you get the update. This is why Microsoft developed tools like Excel Models and Microsoft Power BI. These are the tools evaluated in the two exams required to obtain the MCSA level certification in BI Reporting. Exam 70-778 Analyzing and Visualizing Data with Microsoft Power BI Exam 70-779 Analyzing and Visualizing Data with Microsoft Excel How it all began By December 2017, I started my journey to obtain the MCSA certification in BI Reporting, by that moment I had already worked work a few months with Microsoft PowerBI, which is the company Data Visualization and Exploration tool the 70-778 exam is all about, since I did not have any experience analyzing data with Excel, nor using Excel Data Models, I decided to start with the Exam 70-778, which I also suggest doing it like that due to Power BI ends up being the last layer of a BI solution, so having all those concepts clear helps you better approach the data analysis on Excel in the second exam. In order to prepare for the exams I used: Exam 70-778 Exam 70-779 How long will it take? This of course depends on your experience in data analysis as well as the time and effort you invest in it, but in my case it took me from 2 to 3 hours a day for 4 weeks for the 70-778 Exam, and around 3 hours a day for 4 months for the 70-779, as I said before, I did not have any experience using excel for data Analysis. Both exams will evaluate your skills to understand, transform data, learning DAX is important for the 70-778 exam, but it is enough with the basis; however, for the 70-779 DAX is crucial, I would say 60% of the exam involves DAX expressions. It is definitely a worth obtaining certification, Power BI is at this moment the best Data Visualization and Exploitation tool, so the experience obtained after going through the exams really changed my perspective. I hope this article encourage you to pursue this certification, or any other related one.
